

Council discusses town water supply

Elk Point Town Council coped with Monday's hot, dry weather by diving deep into the discussion of the Town's water supply and its treatment. Council was shorthanded for the meeting, with Mayor Bruce Kleeburger and Councillors Ed Buck and Steve Stepaniuk absent, and Councillor Allan Frankiw chairing the meeting.

Public Works Superintendent Ron Fraess was on hand to report on developments with the water treatment process problem which has caused color to appear in Elk Point's tap water, and on the reason for deterioration of the clear well lining and pump structural steel portions. Fraess superchlorinated the water in an attempt to rid the supply of the color, but found that in a few hours, color reappeared in the water in the clear well. Tests show that the water is totally safe for consumption, but the color is annoying to users. Council moved to retain the services of a consultant who will search for the cause of the problem.

The purchase of a backup pump to be used to feed chemicals into the water treatment system was also approved, although this was not part of the 1989 Town Budget. The plant presently has no backup pump for this use, and would experience considerable problems in the event of failure of the permanent pump.

Switching the Ravine Drive and 52 Street water users to a different pressure zone was discussed at some length before the concept was approved. Addition of a water pressure reducer to each home, to bring the pressure from the higher zone to a usable level will cost the Town under $2500. Pressure deficiencies in the northeast residential area will also be looked at, with costs for alleviating this problem to be determined.

Elk Point's raw water supply is also a problem at the present time, with only a trickle of water from springs north of Highway 646 reaching the water inlet pump, and the creek the lowest in 9 years. The recently completed Municipal Servicing Plan has indicated finding a more adequate raw water supply is a high priority with the Town, and Council felt this may be a good time to explore the possibility of pumping water from the North Saskatchewan River rather than from Hook Lake, as has been done in recent years.

Purchase of a used half-ton truck for Public Works Department use, with a cost limit of $6000, and overlays to sidewalks on the west side of the Co-op and on 50 Ave. from east of Millie's Flowers to the Prag Plumbing building, with a cost limit of $5000, were approved.

Council set a policy for dealing with requests for curb cutouts for the provision of driveways. Curb cutouts will be done with a jack hammer, with concrete to be poured to form a proper finish. The first driveway on each property will be done at the Town's cost, with additional driveways or changes to be paid for by the property owner.

A delegation from the Elk Point Golf and Country Club appeared before Council to discuss their lease agreement and discuss the rental fee which is now due. Improvements made to the club facilities this year have badly depleted the Golf Club's cash flow, Council was told. Because of the absence of three Council members the delegation was asked to return to the next meeting to discuss the matter further.

Wagon train set to roll

By Fae Irvine

Fort George Historical Site will be the assembly point for six to ten covered wagons as the Happy Trails Wagon Train gets underway Sunday, August 6. The evening will be spent renewing old friendships and getting acquainted with new friends.

Pat Johnson and the Boy Scouts are going to canoe down river from the Elk Point Bridge to join us for breakfast Monday morning.

Visitors are welcome at an old time picnic atmosphere with games and races for children commencing Monday at 2:00 p.m. There will be tests of strength and skill for men and women also. Light concessions will be offered for sale by the Light Horse Association. Andy L'Hirondelle will provide dancing music to bring the day to a close. Of course campfire coffee will be available all day long!

Tuesday morning it will be "Wagon's Ho!" through the sand hills, crossing highway 646 near Marshal Pelech's and stopping in Lindbergh for lunch. The afternoon will be a hard trek for the horses as they go over the hills north of town to Jurak's valley. We'll stop for evening camp about 6:00 p.m. on the north east side of the pasture near Charlie Thompson's. (North of Laurier Lake).

This night, as every evening, young children will be entertained by a "school marm" while adults are busy with their chores. After supper there will be music and fun around the campfire.

Each evening camp will be accessible by road for visitors. Remember - the coffee pot is always on!

Wednesday we leave roads and civilization behind as we find the "Old Frog Lake Trail" and head north to Garnier Lake for lunch. A few more hours and we'll be camping on the south side of Muriel Lake.

This evening, along with the "school marm" and other regular campfire activities, special preparations will be made for the exciting day ahead.

Thursday will be our day of rest - sort of! If all goes well and baby arrives BEFORE this trek starts, we will witness a baptismal service at 1:00 p.m. Randy and Jenny Scott have chosen this time to have their two year old daughter, Nicole, and new baby baptized by Rev. Sam Donaldson. Following will be a marriage ceremony with Ken and Cathy Foster of Derwent renewing their wedding vows. The afternoon will be filled with fun and games and topped off with a Pot Luck Supper. A grass dance will follow. Please consider this an invitation to the baptism and wedding. Bring your dish and stay for supper.

On the trail again Friday morning, we'll head west and south across Kehewin Reserve for lunch. Willie Poitras rodeo corrals will be the site of our night camp.

It's back into the bush again Saturday morning as we start the last leg of our journey. Winding our way down Moose Mountain, we will end up at Spring Park Hall. The Light Horse Club will provide a barbecue supper at a cost of $5.00 per person. Awards and bouquets will be given out before the music begins for our final night.

This is the life!

One week to fair

There is just over a week left to prepare for Elk Point's annual Agricultural Fair, which goes August 11 and 12 at the Elk Point Elks Hall.

Exhibits of everything from afghans to zinnias will be accepted at the Elks Hall between 12:00 noon and 3:30 p.m. on Friday, August 11. No exhibits will be accepted before or after those hours. You may enter as many categories as you like for the nominal fee of $1 per person. Prize lists outlining the categories and tags to be affixed to your entries are available at the Lakeland Review or from Fair Board members. Please tag your entries before bringing them to the hall.

The hall is open for public viewing of exhibits from 2:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 12, with prizes awarded at 7:00 p.m.. Exhibits must be removed between 8:00 and 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Coffee and snacks will be served throughout the public viewing.

Buddy wins Cheyenne

Dewberry chuckwagon driver Buddy Bensmiller, who won the Calgary Stampede Rangeland Derby just two weeks ago, has continued his winning streak by driving to another championship at Cheyenne Frontier Days on July 30. Second place in Cheyenne was won by Ray Mitsuing of Loon Lake Saskatchewan.

Ruthless Writers

No place like home

By S. F. Thompson

I usually wait until there are twenty-five jobs on my list of Things to Do before I come to town. There is no sense in making a trip for nothing. If you are going to burn gas, might as well make it worthwhile. Yesterday morning I pulled into town with my usual long list. To make things interesting, my daughter's birthday party was scheduled for 1:00 the same afternoon. Upping the stakes gives a person a certain edge, I believe.

I began my race through the shops and services of Elk Point: Straighten out a snafu at the bank. Hurry back to the car with paint for a construction project. Over to Macleods for a birthday present, allowing ten minutes for the careful selection of just that perfect gift. Pick up a pair of drycleaned pants that had given up hope of ever coming home again. Sprint to the drug store for gallons of pop for the birthday party. Back to the car to drop off purchases.

On this latest trip to the car I was stopped by a stranger inquiring, "Is there any other place in town to buy vegetables?" Well, I know the fish truck comes through town every once in awhile. And if you are lucky you can catch the "Sweet, Fresh B.C. Fruit" truck down by the Welcome to Elk Point sign. Some garden vegetables are ready. But as for another store, sorry, no. "You mean there is no other place to buy vegetables?" She didn't seem to believe me. Nope. "Just this store..." Her voice trailed off as she got back into her car. She seemed to imply, you poor people, how do you manage?

As she drove away I wished I had carried on the conversation. Don't you know lady, the reason you go away for summer holidays is so when you get back home you can say "Thank the Lord I live here and not there. There are people in this world who don't have seventeen varieties of carrots to choose from." That's how it works in Elk Point. The family piles into a hot overcrowded car, risks life and limb dodging others on their summer migration, endures high prices, greasy food and whiny kids. Why? So when they get back they can say, "Thank goodness I'm home again. There's no place like the Lakeland."

I stood in the parking lot, checked off my list and carrying on my absentee conversation with the vegetable lady when up walked the girl from the drug store. "You forgot your husbands pants on the chocolate bar rack." Now, the city may offer displays of vegetables that would take you a week to squeeze and choose, but if you lost your pants in the drug store, would they find their way back to you?

Once my nutty aunt sent a letter addressed just to our first names. It was dropped on the sidewalk. Someone picked it up and personally delivered it within ten minutes. Think you could find that kind of service in the city? It would be a frosty Friday in July.

Now that I had my pants back, I checked a few more items off the list and was coming into the homestretch - through the aisles of the Co-op in fifteen minutes or less. I had to get to the Co-op because I needed things for the birthday cake. It was only 11:30. The party was at 1:00. With a little luck I could make it. I thought I was fast but my young neighbor with her three small children dangling from her cart set the record. With three small children you learn to be fast. One can't leave six small hands time for grabbing goodies off the shelves.

The last hurdle was leapt, the last item checked off my list. My groceries were packed into my hundred degree car, an oven on wheels, and I headed the old crate home. But it was not to be. Ten minutes to spare, a gaggle of girls about to descend on my home, ready to spend a sundrenched afternoon at the lake and Old Betsy decided to get ornery. At the top of the hill leaving town, the engine died. Nothing could coax it into starting again. I had visions of a half a dozen sullen teenagers on my hands, no car and no birthday cake.

Ever optimistic, I hiked back two minutes to a pay phone. As luck would have it, they were having a slow day at the garage. Before I had time to walk back a tow truck was hooking up the car. At the garage they found a loose wire under the hood and I was back in business. Twenty minutes and fifteen dollars later I was on the road again. I had a problem like that in the city once. I was stuck for three days.

I made it home in time to greet the birthday guests. The party was a total success and everyone had a wonderful time at the beach.

So you can keep your selection of vegetables. The gardens are ready now anyway and we will dine like royalty for awhile. In my mind there is no comparison. I wouldn't trade this community for all the vegetables in Superstore.

Hello

From Miss Lakeland

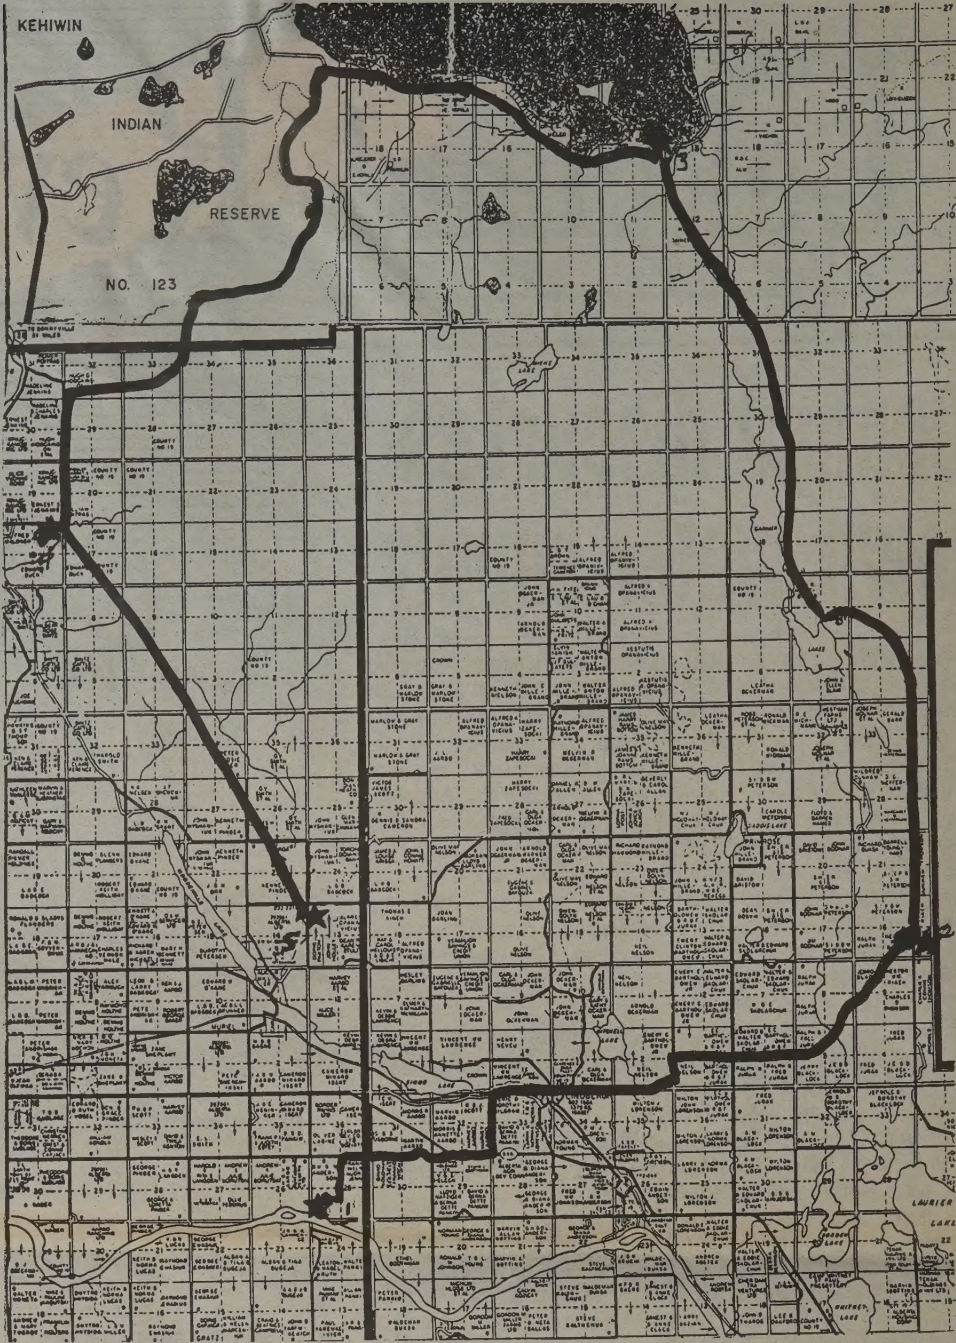

Boy, being Miss Lakeland has sure kept me busy and it has only been a month and a half since the day of the Pageant. Please don't get me wrong, it has been a most enjoyable few weeks and I send out my warmest appreciation to all those who made it all possible. Thanks to the Pageant organizers, sponsors, and surrounding communities for their tremendous support. As well, thank you to the people at the Lakeland Tourist Association who are now responsible for my schedule. All your time and hard work are definitely appreciated.

My duties as Miss Lakeland began the day after the Pageant. During the last hour of Exhibit '89 I went around making draws for various Exhibitors. Congratulations to all the lucky winners and my apologies to all of you whose names remained in the barrels. Since then I have attended the Stoney Lake and Whitney Lake Rodeos, Canada Day Celebrations in Elk Point and St. Paul, Moonlight Madness and Mike's Jewelry's Grand Opening at the St. Paul Shopping Centre, Colonial Days in Lloydminster, as well as the Vermilion and Vegreville Fairs. The hospitality I have received during these appearances has been magnificent. I want to thank all of these organizations for having me and making my visits so pleasurable. Some of the places that you will find me at during August are the Cold Lake Aqua Days, Willingdon Fair and Rodeo, Mundare Agri-daze, Two Hills Rodeo, and of course the LRA Finals in St. Paul. I look forward to attending these functions and am willing to make other appearances, just get in touch with the Lakeland Tourist Association in St. Paul.

Carrying the title of Miss Lakeland has, so far, proven to be an excellent opportunity to meet many new and interesting people. It has also enabled me to participate in celebrations from different communities and I can safely say that the Lakeland has a lot to offer. So take an Alberta break and tour the Lakeland Country. Enjoy the summer!!

Happy Trails Wagon Train...

You are invited to join the Happy Trails Wagon Train each evening along their route. Sunday and Monday nights they will be at Fort George Historic Site (1), Tuesday night at Jurak's pasture near Charlie Thompson's

(2), Wednesday and Thursday nights at Muriel Lake (3), Friday night at Willie Poitras' rodeo corrals (4), and the final night with awards and dance at Spring Park Hall (5).

Hire-A-Student Car Wash

By: Maureen Trefanenko and Paul Cabaj
Student Placement Officers

This summer enjoy the heat and at the same time help Hire-A-Student introduce young students to the work force.

In our search for expanding student employment, in addition to making our services more aware to the public, a student car wash was held on Friday, July 14. It was such a success that another car wash is planned for Thursday, August 10, 1989.

Manned by three enthusiastic young students, the car wash will be held at Tags Food and Gas from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The cost is $3.00 per vehicle (exterior only).

Hire-A-Student, with its job creation projects, offers many opportunities for young students. But, to make these projects successful, we need your support. Come out and participate - give yourself a break and help out a student at the same time.

And if you are an interested employer looking for an odd job to be filled, place a job order with us today. Time is running out. Our last day of operation is Friday, August 11, 1989. Call us at 645-6019 in St. Paul or Elk Point on Thursday afternoons at 724-3810.

Summer Play report

The Club 3/4 and Fun In The Sun programs are well underway. The children who attend appear to be enjoying themselves, and many parents have commented on the quality of the programs. Not only do the children have the opportunity to play with others in large and small group games, ample time is given for free play, and crafts always go over well. The children also become involved with the Library Reading program, and incorporating that program into ours has been successful.

Another program which was incorporated into our Fun In The Sun program was the AADAC Drama Fun program. Kathy Mistol joined the Summer Recreation Staff for six days to educate the children about the harmful effects of drinking, smoking, and inhalants. All of this was presented in a fun way through plays and puppet shows that the children created, short cartoons with educational messages, and games designed to create an image about "good" and "bad" products.

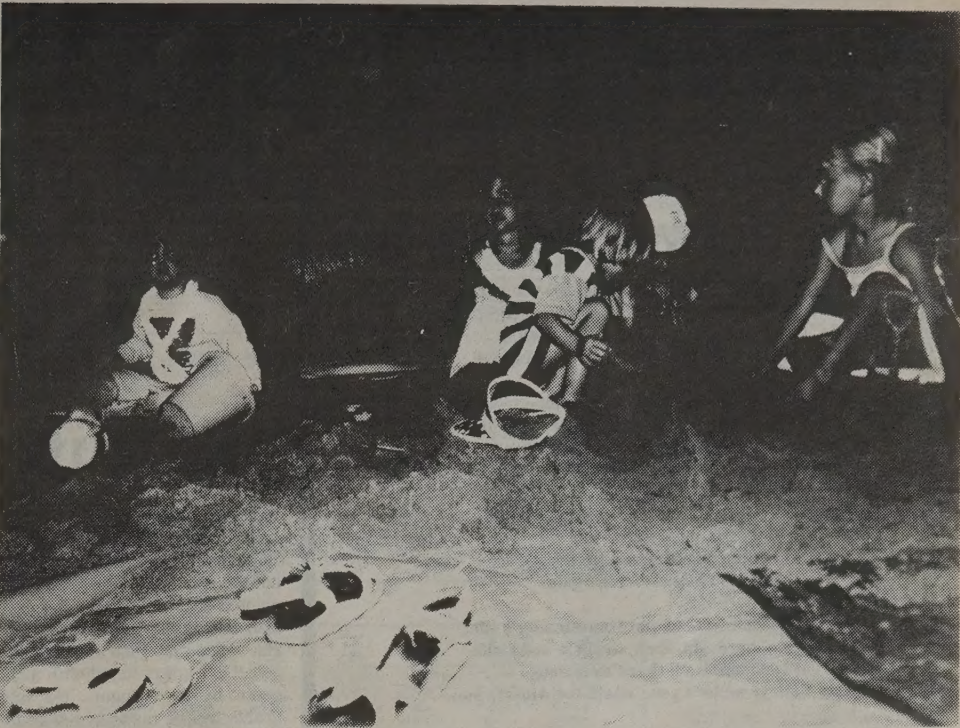

The children enrolled in Fun In The Sun had the opportunity to visit Don Mudryk's game farm last week. In the future there will be many other special activities for the children to partake in. Monday, July 31 was a Hawaiian Beach Day. Children came dressed in beach attire and tested their talents doing hula hoop tricks and the limbo.

Various "theme" days will be held during the month of August, and hopefully more field trips will be taken by both groups of children.

Taste Of The Islands...

Fun In The Sun participants watch carefully as Leanne Drobot taps a coconut to remove the tasty milk. A full afternoon of fun, Hawaiian style, with hula, twist and limbo dancing, making flower leis, playing on the beach and in the pool, all topped off with a snack of Hawaiian pizza, awaited the group.

Castles In The Sand...

The beach came indoors for Club 3 / 4 participants Monday, as they enjoyed sand castle building without any risk of sunburn, at their Hawaiian Beach Party.

Rain helps area crops

Twenty millimeters of rain over the weekend has provided some relief for area crops, which were beginning to show signs of burning from last week's very high temperatures. Soil moisture conditions last Friday had been rated fair.

Wheat and barley crops are headed out and are now filling, while canola is podding. Wind has caused some crops to lodge.

Clandonald ready for country fair

By Shirley Osinchuk

The big event of the summer is coming soon ... the Clandonald Country Fair.

Fair books listing exhibits are available in the Post Office and Hardware store. All exhibits are to be brought in on Friday, August 11, to the arena, between 1 and 3 p.m. They will be judged, each exhibit on its own merits, and receive a ribbon for first, second or third.

The articles should all be picked up by exhibitors between 2 and 2:30 on Saturday afternoon. This is earlier than in previous years.

The fun begins on Saturday with the famous cooks of the Board of Trade preparing a pancake breakfast outside the curling rink.

The kids' ball game will start at 9:00, and the horseshoe tournament at 10:00.

Also at 10:00, the exhibit hall will open in the arena.

The parade will find its way through town at 11:00 a.m., beginning at the Hall, and ending west of the rinks. Opening speeches will be right after the parade, at about 12:00 noon.

Food booths will open then, as well as the Kids' Gold Mine.

The pet show and baby races will be held between the rinks at 12:30.

At 1:00 p.m., there will be a scavenger hunt for the teenagers, and Bingo will begin, continuing until 3:00. Horseshoes will start again at 1:00.

Also at 1:00, there will be kids' races, followed by pillow fights at 1:30, and tug-o-war and log sawing at 2:00.

A grandstand show is being planned for 3:00 in the arena, followed by parachuters at 4:30, weather permitting.

At 6:00 p.m., Ben's Catering will be offering a beef supper.

The final event of the day will be a dance from 9:00 p.m. till 1:00.

Check the Fair posters for possible time changes.

Kids' club

By Carmen Gulayec
Community Youth Worker

On July 5, Kids' Club started with 17 kids in attendance. Since then the number has almost doubled. That's great!

We have gone bowling, swimming, hiking and made crafts. The kids enjoy playing games such as Tents and Campers and Duck Duck Goose. We also play competitive games such as Chinese Baseball, Softball and Soccer.

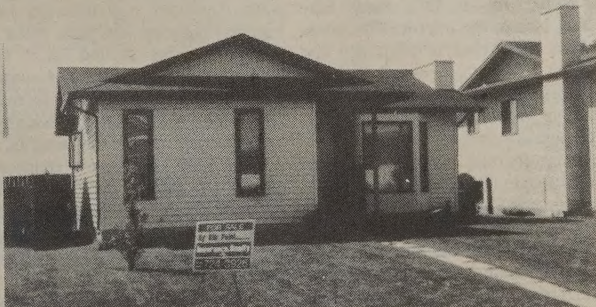

On July 26, we had a Mini Fair. The activities involved in this event were: painting contests, drawing contests, bubble blowing, bean bag tossing and a balloon stomp. Prizes were awarded to all of the kids for their participation. To end this day we played games. On July 27, we had our Farm Safety Day. For this activity, we visited a farm. The people that were kind enough to let us come visit were Mr. and Mrs. Ludlage. We got to go into all of their barns, and we even got to hold a newborn baby pig! The kids from Kids' Club and myself would like to give the Ludlage Family a very special THANK YOU!

Kids' Club will continue until the end of August, so come out and have some fun with us!

The Great Reunion

The Norway Valley sun

Norway Valley, we love you, and to call you our home,
We'll love and protect you, and have you well known;
Alberta, great Province, we're part of it all,
Maple leaves proudly waving, on flags flying tall.

Some who have left you, having to roam,
There's a welcoming party, to welcome them home,
This Grand Reunion to meet everyone,
Norway Valley we love you, with the Alberta sun.

Resemblance so close from our kinfolds before,
Reflections of love in the eyes we can see;
We all meet again, relations and friends,
And we're happy to be back home again.

Thanks for the homestead and homesteader's life,
Generations of hardship, their struggle and strife;
This Great Reunion, we'll thank everyone,
Norway Valley, we love you, 'neath the Alberta sun.

The farmers who groom the land, many serve in another way,
With this Great Reunion, we'll all celebrate;
Norway Valley, we love you, to call you our home,
We'll love and protect you and have you well known.

Thanks for writing

During the last two weeks, we have had a record crop of letters to the editor, all as a result of the letter and editorial of July 19. Thank you to all of you for letting us know how you felt about the situation.

A number of opinions were stated, each in that writer's unique way of expression. The letters have been left as they came to us, in the own words of each person making a comment. We are especially pleased that the writers were willing to let their names accompany their submissions.

Each of you has a right to your opinion, and a right to express it. Thank you for writing.

Look in the mirror

Dear Editor:

Perhaps the author of the letter to the editor (July 19, 1989) should take a long look in the mirror. The words in that letter reek of prejudice and bigotry. This "concerned citizen" managed to label hundreds of hard working people as jealous, ignorant, irresponsible and uncaring.

My family falls into this category of "oil" people. We spent five special years in Elk Point. Our children were born there, we built our first home there, worked hard in the community and made many lasting friendships. I resent the author's insinuation that we were detrimental to Elk Point.

Consider "concerned citizen" that I might have been the nurse at your loved one's bedside during their final hours. Consider that it might have been my husband who gave you a lift when your car stalled on a cold winter's night. Consider our years of volunteer work and taxes to make Elk Point a better place, although we are not there to reap the benefits.

What gall you have "concerned citizen" to display such prejudicial garbage publicly. Before you round up all the "oil" people and have them stoned, take a good, hard look at yourself. Think about how many innocent people you have falsely accused and the cowardice you have shown by not signing your name on it.

Entrup sets record straight

Dear Ms. Brooker:

In a recent article written by Alban Bugej under the heading "Transients not the only issue here," I am disappointed that my name was used to lash out at the management of the Elk Point and District Agricultural Society. I am credited with a direct quote by Mr. Bugej "No further grants will be made available to the Agricultural Society until the investigation is over and the present people be replaced by others who can handle money."

To set the record straight, Mr. Bugej phoned me at my residence about ten days ago, late in the evening requesting of me not to be in support of a grant request from Alberta Lotteries, Major Exhibitions and Fairs under the Community Facility Enhancement Program. Mr. Bugej alleged that the management of the Agricultural Society is deficient in the financial operation of the Agricultural Society. I did not comment on the many allegations made by Mr. Bugej, according to the policy of Alberta Lotteries. The quotes attributed to me are not correct and a fiction of the imagination of the author of the article. What makes me suspicious is the fact that Mr. Bugej assisted in making the grant application and his name is registered as contact person.

Alberta Lotteries and I do not become involved in the domestic affairs of local organizations; nor do we become involved in internal disagreements; nor is it true that we are waiting for an investigation by someone and grant funding is subject to the outcome of an alleged investigation or change in management. Categorically, I wish to state that the quotes were not made by me and I resent being used to score a few points in a local dispute that I do not want to become involved in. My interests in people and organizations is based on fairness to all. I do not believe that it is the best interest of the Elk Point Agricultural Society and its present and past members to wash their dirty linen in public through an article as stated. My advice to some of the people in the Elk Point area that have an inclination to be critical of others and self-righteous to the point of being disruptive, to take a long holiday and then come back and make a worthwhile, positive and meaningful contribution to society.

Yours truly,
Helmut Entrup
Community Liaison Officer

Stick to the issues

Dear Editor:

I have been writing and publishing since I was in my teens. That is longer than I care to remember. I published from scientific and technical papers in world wide publications to trivia articles and letters to editors of newspapers a fraction of the size of the Lakeland Review. I do not remember one occasion when I did not sign my name.

Having said that, I appreciate why some people find it necessary to withhold their identity when writing in a newspaper.

In a place like Elk Point, everybody has been typed, branded and put in a niche. One is not expected to write, say or do anything unless it conforms with what the rest of the community expects of him or her.

People who are bothered with this sort of thing have no alternative but withhold their identity when they feel strong enough about an issue to write about it. It is a privilege, accepted by the media, resorted to by some people and I think it should be respected.

Three of the letters that appeared last week in response to that of Concerned Citizen in the July 19 issue, were more concerned with the identity of the author instead the issues raised.

What is going on here? Are they trying to intimidate the community to keep its mouth shut?

The issues raised by Concerned Citizen are two, was Elk Point a better place to live and raise a family fifteen or twenty years ago than it is now? And secondly, should the permanent residents go to sleep and allow the community to be run by the temporary 'transients'?

Those are the issues. Stick to them. I for one prefer the community as it was fifteen years ago. That is why I chose this area to raise my family.

Fifteen years ago this town was able to support, besides other services, two machinery dealers and even a car dealership. We had two lumber yards and numerous other businesses that catered for the needs of the town people and the indigenous industry of the area, namely agriculture.

Now, if you need a bolt or a nut you have to go to St. Paul or Vermilion. Once you are there, you buy your groceries, your meals, fill your medical prescriptions and even buy your wife's dress, to the detriment of the business community of Elk Point. Is that the way to build a healthy community?

Oh yes, fifteen years ago we had a theatre where young people had somewhere to go. Now we have a bunch of video outlets renting filthy movies to desecrate our homes. But that's a sign of maturity.

I must not forget. We advanced so much that we are even honored with the presence of exotic dancers, both male and females.

Babas, you don't know what you have missed!! Man, this town is really vibrant now!!!!

But after all, these things are vital to a healthy community. Vital to what? It's progress or decay? Well that's my view anyway. What is yours?

Write, sign your name or withhold your identity, but write.

Alban Bugej

Issue side-stepped

Dear Editor:

Letters, Letters, Letters. For those in the know, the real issue in the past letters to the editor has been sidestepped. The underlying reason for the original unsigned letter in this paper and the more recent one submitted by Mr. Bugej is simply this: Mr. Alban Bugej and Mr. Harvey Aarbo have recently been banned from the arena and any activities involving the Elk Point and District Ag. Society. The membership, by a large majority, has chosen to take this step in order that the Ag. Society may once again run efficiently and for the betterment of Elk Point and area. The problems that Mr. Aarbo and Mr. Bugej have experienced in this community have started well before the newcomers arrived. However, it may seem like an easy way out - to blame the 'transients' - for their own problems. Mr. Bugej's past inaccuracies which were experienced in the Elk Point Ag.

Society have been carried over into his public letter. The Ag. Society has survived the past year and is now stronger and more unified than ever. The Ag. Society is in excellent standing with the Provincial Branch, however, it may not have been much longer, had the internal changes not been made.

I feel the positive features of this community outweigh the negative. The negative letters will not discourage community involvement by the people of the oil industry, as we are strong. So whether you wish to call us transients or not, it does not matter, for Elk Point is where we live today and it is where we will help to build a stronger community. Thanks for your time.

I remain,
Shirley Harms

Who should be a coach?

Dear Editor:

I have read the letter written to the paper and it seems to me that the issue is not who has lived here the longest, but who should be the coach of any minor sport.

What makes a good coach?

Is it someone who has the child's interest or him or herself's goal?

A good coach is someone who cares that each child gets a chance to play. You can't improve if no one gives you a chance to improve and practices does help to better oneself.

It's not the children who criticize, it's their parents. Children repeat what they hear.

How many boys or girls quit a game they like regardless of the coach (some coaches don't play fair). Too many parents want their child to be the Star and on the winning team. But you also have to learn to lose gracefully.

The parent who criticizes is the one who doesn't want the job, but wants his child to be the Star player. And every child is a Star in his own way.

So, unless you want the coaching job (but make sure you are qualified) be a supportive fan.

Then, maybe Minor Sports will be a fun event instead of a bickering ground for so-called adults.

What's new at the library?

The Summer Reading Program has yet another busy fun filled week with the elementary children listening to stories, paperdying, monoporead and a balloon relay race. The preschoolers on Friday listened to stories, watched the fingerplay "Five Enormous Dinosaurs" and the puppet show "Who Took The Farmers Hat", plus made a musical man and joined in the bird dance. All in all this was a very busy Friday at the library. Parents & Patrons please stop in and view the display of art work and crafts the children have been making this summer. The children will keep adding more each week throughout the summer and they will be on display while the summer reading program is still underway. This Thursday, at 2:00 p.m. we will once again try to show the movie "The Secret of Nymph". Also kids remember to bring in the "Be a Bookasaurus Posters" for our coloring contest which will be judged at the end of the Summer Reading Program. Patrons! Come in and view our display of video cassettes and take one home. We have some interesting classics: Captains Courageous, David Copperfield, National Velvet, A Man for All Seasons and Casablanca.

For our music patrons we have four new music cassettes; "Fine Young Cannibals"; More Great Dirt" by the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band Vol. II"; "Jennifer Rush"; "Tesla: The Great Radio Controversy".

New Books: "Missing Piece" Lee Ezell - A true story of a mother's painful loss of her daughter and their triumphant reunion.

When does a creature of the wilds become more than an illusive shadow in the woods, a fast-disappearing flicker across a ditch, a bob of antlers as one flits across the road ahead in the twilight - perhaps a picture in a book?

The illusion becomes real when you go to the game farms, where deer and elk and moose will stand unconcerned while you study them, or snap your camera at them, or offer them a wisp of hay or a handful of oats, and they come forward and eat from your hand.

True, these graceful ungulates are still wary, a sudden move will send them racing away, or at least backing off. Their self-preservation instincts are not gone, but they are lulled, as their association with man gives them courage, and slowly their fears, built by countless generations of being the hunted, are allayed.

Such are the wildlife, mostly elk, which are offered for public viewing on Saturday, July 8, at the Steve Ference farm, where Steve's sons, Lawrence and Allen Ference, keep their herd of elk, together with a small flock of deer and a couple of moose. The farm, about five miles west and north of Elk Point, is ideally suited to cover the herd of domesticated elk, with tall trees, boundless grass and plenty of willows and underbrush for them to range among.

Encased, as they must be, in the tall paige-wire pastures, with the sturdy plank corrals at the end (where examinations, medications and inspections are done) the animals cannot wander off and away freely, to return to the wilds where their ancestors roamed, still, they have ample space, plenty to eat and drink, and undergrowth to hide their babies in.

Ference's had endeavoured to bring in a few cow elk, with their calves for the publics closer viewing pleasure, but they reckoned without the instinct to hide, possessed by the calves. While the dams came readily to the corrals, the reluctant calves would not, but went off into the pasture, where there was a constant channel of communication between them and their mothers for some time, as they called back and forth in persistent high-pitched keening. Most of us had never heard an elk making any sound before, so it was a new experience to hear the exchanged calls between the mothers and their young, which sounded very much like the recorded calls of whales, sometimes heard on oceanic programs on TV.

Realizing, before too long, that the mothers would not be able to coax their young into the corrals, Ference's had pity on them, and released the cows back into the pasture. Here they were still very visible, and anyone who came to the Open House had an opportunity to see the graceful, long-legged wapiti wandering about, grazing or resting.

Over in another pasture, a half-dozen or so red deer wandered, these a recent addition to the herd, with one or two carrying racks of antlers, and at least one fawn gamboling by it's mother's side. These native deer live up to their name well, in mid summer, when they are a light reddish brown, very graceful and beautiful among the greenery.

Of the two moose in the herd, the female is older, and much the larger, with long thin legs and a mournful pendulant face, chaffing at her tether, and annoyed by a few persistent flies. It was not long before one of the boys went over and released the pair of them, to run free in the pasture, thinking more of the animals' comfort than the viewers' convenience. I think we were all glad to see them run free. And they didn't go far, joining the elk in the closer pasture. The bull moose, only a yearling - and about as tall as I am - was less agitated, and mostly stood quietly, lowering his long narrow head, with the odd little 'button' antlers, only two or three inches long, completely encased in brown fur, and perhaps waiting for a human hand to pet him. He nibbled at the grass at his feet, and sniffed the oats offered him, but, although both are use to being led out about, seemed quite pleased when the tether was removed.

These two moose were both acquired after their mothers were destroyed in roadside collisions, the calves rescued by Forestry personnel, and cared for by them, until they went to their present home over on 9-57-7-W4.

To make the visitors' day more enjoyable, the Ference brothers had arranged for Ed Gregoraschuk and son, to bring a team of driving horses and wagon up from Lindbergh, so visitors could experience the fun of a wagon ride, out along the pasture fence, for a closer view of the animals. This ride was especially enjoyed by the younger viewers, as this was an unusual treat. All visitors were treated to coffee or juice and doughnuts, served from a green viewing point, where tables and benches were arranged for their pleasure.

Ferences have had many visitors to their Game farm, over the few years it has been established, however these came mostly in small groups, time-consuming to escort around, so the Open House was planned, so any who wished to see the animals could do so, and the day devoted to that. Trish Ference, Lawrence's wife, reported an additional, seventy or more names recorded in the Guest book, for the day, and already they are planning how to make the next Open House that much better. The weather held fine all day, until around nine in the evening, when once more the sky opened. What more could we ask?
